

East Asia Sustainable Economic Development Studies

With a specific focus on the environment, social, and governance aspects of development policy, industry policy, and business management

Academic researchers with international standard of competence

Practical economists / social entrepreneurs / international civil servants
---contributing to the international sustainable development

D3-II

Doctoral Thesis

Thesis Research

(16 credits from main and sub supervisors)

Career Path Image

D3-I

Advanced Courses B (4 credits)

D2-II

Advanced Courses A (4 credits)

Academic Career Training

Field Research in East Asia / Europe

D2-I

International Development Assistance Policy, Development Economics: Advanced, Econometric Analysis of Asian Economies & Developing Economies, Sustainable Development Studies, Environmental Economics, Corporate Strategy and Organization, International Agribusiness Studies, International Political Economy of Agriculture, Critical Consumption Studies, Economic History Readings, Economic & Business History, Geopolitical Economy of Development, Organization Studies, etc.

Advanced Academic Writing
International Academic Presentation

D1-II

International Collaborative Courses

Asian Platform for Global Sustainability & Transcultural Studies (Top Global University Project)

D1-I

Master's Thesis

Thesis Research

(8 credits from supervisor)

Advanced Courses A (12 credits)

Internship

Overseas Field Research

M2-I

M1-II

Core Courses (10 credits)

Quantitative & Qualitative Research Methods, Academic Writing & Discussion, Research Design, Microeconomics, Macroeconomics, Econometrics, Development Economics, Introduction to East Asian Economies, Introduction to Field Research Methods

M1-I

On-site Research Training A/B (compulsory 4 Credits)

Application, Selection and Admission

(4 MEXT scholarship int'l students / 4 privately-funded int'l students / 2 Japanese students)